Dear Families,

We are certainly not standing still at LPGS with the day-to-day bustle of lessons, activities and exams taking place alongside our preparations for the new school year. My colleagues are already visiting primary schools to meet with teachers and pupils in support of secondary transition and there is much planning underway on curriculum developments, the timetable for the new school year, Sixth Form induction and the identification of our school's development priorities for 2025-26.

In this week's 'Langley Lowdown' for students I looked ahead to some of the many events taking place after the half-term break. We will be preparing for Sports Day, a much-anticipated event in our school calendar that celebrates not only athletic talent but also teamwork, resilience, and school spirit. Equally exciting is our Summer Arts Festival, which promises to be a vibrant celebration of student creativity, showcasing our creative arts at Langley Park School for Girls. And, of course, we can't wait to welcome you to our school production of Six the Musical: Teen Edition. Our talented performers, crew and staff have been working incredibly hard, and it's shaping up to be an entertaining and memorable production on the Langley stage.

I've also been involved in important work that reflects our wider commitment to inclusion and wellbeing. This week, I had the privilege of meeting with fellow headteachers from across our trust to plan the launch of Hemisphere Education, a new training platform developed by Rare. This platform is designed to improve racial literacy among school staff, and is part of our collective mission to build a stronger sense of belonging for every member of our community. By equipping staff with the tools and understanding to support all students more effectively, we take an important step forward in fostering a greater understanding and ensuring equity and excellence in education.

Additionally, I joined a collaborative session with health professionals across Bromley, representatives from the local authority and Bromley girls' schools to look at our schools' and local strategy for promoting positive mental health and wellbeing, as well as providing support to children, young people and families.

Congratulations to Miss McGovern and Mr Littlechild who successfully complete the Hackney Half Marathon on Sunday and have so far raised £1,869 for CALM (Campaign Against Living Miserably). Thank you to those who supported this cause by making donations via their JustGiving page.

As always, thank you for your continued support and engagement. We are proud of the achievements of our students and look forward to seeing them continue to learn, achieve and thrive in the weeks ahead.

I wish all our students, staff, and families a restful and enjoyable half-term break.

Yours faithfully,

S J Whittle
