Dear Parents/Carers,

Year 11 Food Preparation and Nutrition NEA Coursework and Exam Information (2026–2027)

As your child begins Year 11, I would like to share some important information regarding their Food Preparation and Nutrition Non-Exam Assessment (NEA) coursework and upcoming examinations.

Students will begin their NEA coursework in September 2026. There are two components:

- NEA 1: September to November 2026
- NEA 2: November 2026 to March 2027

Further details, including assessment dates and deadlines for each section of coursework, will be shared closer to the time. It is essential that students adhere to these deadlines, as it is very easy to fall behind once coursework begins. Should your child begin to fall behind at any stage, we will ensure that you are informed promptly so that we can work together to provide appropriate support.

The final deadline for submission of coursework to the examination board (AQA) is 7th May 2027.

In addition to the coursework requirements:

- The final three-hour practical examination is expected to take place in February/March 2027 (exact dates to be confirmed).
- The written theory examination is scheduled for 24th May 2027.

Students will also receive guidance on the appropriate use of AI and online resources. Please be aware that any student who copies directly from websites or uses AI to generate any part of their coursework may be subject to serious malpractice sanctions, which could include disqualification from the qualification.

Further guidance from JCQ (the organisation responsible for examination regulations) can be found here:

To support your child during this important year, we encourage them to:

- Maintain consistent attendance and punctuality.
- Meet all interim deadlines.
- Complete independent work and revision regularly.
- Seek help early if they are unsure or experiencing difficulties.

Year 11 is a significant and demanding year. However, with consistent effort, organisation and support, students can achieve excellent outcomes. We look forward to working closely with you to help ensure your child's success.
